Representative Val Potter to Seek Re-Election to Utah House District 3

North Logan, Utah (February 26, 2020) – Val Potter, the current representative for Utah House District 3 and executive director of development for Utah State University-Extension announced his intention to seek re-election to that seat.

In a release to local news media, Representative Potter shared the following, “I love serving this community. Since I first was elected to the North Logan City Council in 1992, I have fought for conservative principles. Now, more than ever, our state needs to focus on those ideals and the prosperity they have brought to our state. I have been successful in making a real impact here in the legislature with my legislation and the bills I’ve supported, that’s why I’m running for re-election. I promise to support families, cut red tape for business owners, reduce taxes, and keep government minimal and effective.”

Representative Potter’s experience includes service in the following capacities:

- Mayor of North Logan City
- Cache County Council member and Chair
- North Logan City Council Member
- Republican State Central Committee Member
- State and County Republican Delegate
- Bear River Association of Governments

At the Legislature, Representative Potter serves on the following committees:

- Business, Economic Development, and Labor Appropriations Subcommittee (Chair)
- Commission on Housing Affordability (Chair)
- House Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice Committee
- House Political Subdivisions Committee
- Clean Air Caucus (Vice Chair)
